etentious wedding than did her sister, ss Jessie, now Mrs. Francis B. Sayre. e President and Mrs. Wilson do not vor it, but Miss Eleanor, fiancee of easury, has admitted to her intimates full committee. at she "just loves weddings with fuss d feathers," and all the excitements thrills, and she intends to have e of that kind.

Although the President and Mrs. Wilas their position will permit, it is nerally believed that the cermony will much more elaborate and more rgely attended than were the nuptials est November for Miss Jessie Wilson.

Brilliancy Assured. Because of the social activities of the n unusually brilliant affair.
It is quite assured that the heads of vernments represented at Washingon will be invited, together with the nembers of the Cabinet and Supreme court. In any case there will be a arger number of Washington residents ganizations. It is believed the ceremony ill take place early in June.

The ring which Secretary McAdoo has en Miss Wilson is one of the handmest engagement rings ever seen in ashington. It is a huge white diaend solitaire, in an old fashion claw ting, engraved in the back. Natu-ly, Miss Wilson refused to tell what scription was on the inside. Her Social Ranking.

As a Cabinet hostess, Miss Wilson Ill rank next to Mrs. William Jennings ryan, who, as wife of the Secretary of tate, is recognized as the leader of the ficial set.

nd Secretary McAdoo have seen the gagement ring they are insistent on owing just when the wedding will k∈ place and who will make up the Indoubtedly Mrs. Savre will be her ster's matron of honor and Miss Mar-aret Wilson and Miss Nona McAdoo ill be the bridesmaids. It has even on suggested that owing to the warm riendship that exists between the bride-be and Miss Sallie McAdoo, the oung daughter of the Secretary. Miss allie McAdoo will also be one of the edding party, acting in the capacity ring bearer or flower girl.

Already several of the associations have pledged their co-operation with the full committee in efforts to preserve the present fiscal relations in the District. Letters to members throughout the country or publications of arguments favoring a continuation of the half-and-half plan in official organs of the association is the form of this cooperation.

Chairman Macfarland will confer with Mrs. William Cumming Story, president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, when she arrives in Washington tomorrow, and an effort will be made to gain the support of this several president or sayingtion in Now that the friends of Miss Wilson this powerful patriotic organization in behalf of the Capital.

Will Send Out Letters.

By the middle of the week the American Civic Association will have completed its 3,000 letters to its members it support of a more beautiful Capital, and these will be in the mails by the end of the week.

The conference committee of the two Houses is expected to meet this week and take up the District appropriation bill, which was passed by the Senate. This committee is composed of Senators John Walter Smith, Luke Lea and J. H. Gallinger, and Congressmen Robert N. Page, Thomas U. Sisson, and Charles R. Gallinger, and Congressmen Robert A.
Davis. The prevailing belief is that the half-and-half plan will not be disturbed
by the conferees, but the fate of the proposed municipal hospital legislation is in doubt. A change also may be made in the Williams' amendment tacked on the bill in the Senate, which would take vehicles from all officials except in the offices of police, fire and emergency health departments.
